Trauma Focused Caregiver Education Workshop

This eight module (2 hours weekly) course will aim to provide skills and techniques to identify elements in caring for children who have experienced trauma. It will include learning more about how trauma impacts child development and how to help children in your care move past trauma in a healthy way to help them feel safe, and honor your child’s feelings and behaviors. The course will also provide skills on connecting with resources and becoming an advocate for your child in his or her various environments. Finally the coursework will highlight self-care and avoiding compassion fatigue. All modules are endorsed by the National Child Traumatic Stress Network (NCTSN)

Facilitators:
